New Med. Building For BG

BELLE GLADE — A new Medical Arts building will be ready for occupancy by three full-time doctors here within a month, Dr. J. Allen Baker announced yesterday.

The former Seventh Day Adventist Church building at Ave. B and 2nd St. is being remodeled by Dr. Baker, who is completing arrangements to bring two more doctors to Belle Glade.

At the present, Dr. Baker said he is "more than optimistic" that a Miami surgeon qualified for the American Board of Surgery will come into Belle Glade at the Medical Arts Bldg., and another doctor is definitely contemplating coming in shortly after that.

The new doctors are not employees of any clinic, and there will be no fee-splitting system in the Medical Arts Center, said Dr. Baker.

The building is being remodeled completely within, with repainting, and wall-to-wall carpeting. It will have a new, modern front as well.

CAMP NURSERY IS PLANNED

CANAL POINT — A cooperative, self-help project is under way at the Farm Labor Supply Center at Sand Cut which if successful will put a Negro nursery into operation.

A group of working families living at the camp, spearheaded by the Negro mothers' health club, and with the cooperation of School Principal Christine Jackson, housing, health department, and church officials, is reading the nursery for use.

Mrs. Monica Owen, migrant field worker, of the National Council of Churches, is assisting with preparations at the nursery, as has Rev. G. E. Penson of Belle Glade.

James W. Vann, executive director of the Pahokee Housing Authority of which the Sand Cut camp is a part, and Tommy Hooper, camp manager, have authorized the use of a three-room house for the proposed nursery. The housing authority provided some paint, and some of the boys of the camp put on the first interior coat. A second coat is being put on by a Jamaican and Bahamian men put on another coat.

The health club, with just $19 in its treasury at present, is planning to make and sell sandwiches to field workers to raise money for nursery supplies.

Mrs. Owen said. There is a great need for bedding and equipment, she said.

County Health Nurse Jane Plumer has been helping with plans, and Vann said he hopes to see the resident-operated project get started in a few weeks. The nursery as planned by the residents will care for the infants of mothers working in the fields and for younger children not in school.

QM Buying HQ Opens Again

BELLE GLADE — The Quartermaster Market Center, U. S. Army field buying office for the Glades area, officially opened for its fifth season.

Last year produce shipped direct from the Glades section to military installations East of the Rocky Mountains totaled over $750,000 to $1,000,000, according to Chief Buyer Yates Floyd.

In addition, some Glades vegetables were exported to Europe through the New York office.

The center, which is operated under the Orlan field buying office, is located in the Pop Lord building in Belle Glade.

Principal commodities purchased in the Glades area include celery, cabbage, peppers, cucumbers, endive, eggplant, lettuce, radishes, egg plant, all types of squash, and some sweet corn in the early fall and late spring months. A small volume of citrus is purchased in the area of Lake Placid to Avon Park through the Glades center.

"MISS BETA SIGMA PHI" MRS. EDDIE JONES ... ways and means committeewomen and charity doll

'Sweet Sue' For Sweet Charity

By DOROTHY TUCKER

BELLE GLADE—The "Sweet Sue" doll, which is an annual project for the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority charity fund, is on display this week at the Glades Drug Store. The doll will be displayed next, according to Mrs. R. T. Bell, chairman of the ways and means committee, at Bell's Pharmacy, Nov. 21-27, and the drawing will take place at Bell's on Nov. 27 at 8 p.m.

Tickets may be bought from any member of Beta Sigma Phi and in both days each from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the place where the doll is on display and from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. the day of the drawing.

Each year a "Sweet Sue" doll is bought by the sorority and elegantly outfitted by members of the sorority. This year's doll is outfitted in a hand crocheted wedding dress, made by Mrs. Rosa Nash. It is fashioned with a full skirt, a small train, a full bodice and full puffed sleeves.

1500 Yds. Thread The dress represents many hours of hard work and over 1500 yards of white thread. A bride's bouquet of white roses, white daisies, streamers and a nosegay holder, were all made by Mrs. Nash. The accessories for the bridal outfit were made by Mrs. E. F. McAllister.

The dress is worn over a white tulle slip made in tiers and hooped at each tier so that the dress billows out. The veil of illusion, is made with a halo effect top which comes to a point in the center front, embroidered in seed pearls and falls full length from the cap effect.

"Sweet Sue's" outfit this year will delight the heart of some little girl who will win her. She will have an assortment of evening dresses, street dresses, slacks, lingerie, skirts, blouses, hats, aprons, pajamas, a major-ette outfit complete with baton and boots. A suitable trunk is also furnished.

Members on the committee include Mrs. Eddie Jones, Mrs. Goug Wooten, Mrs. John Munroe and Mrs. Frank Anderson.

NEW BUILDING IS OCCUPIED

PAHOKEE — United Insurance Co. of Illinois has moved into its new offices in Elmer Jones' building, Tom Davis, superintendent, announced today.

Agents Bob Hardaway, W. R. Mills and J. D. Mills are working out of the office for the firm.

Dr. Salvador Williams will remove from his office in Canal Point to a suite of offices in the Jones building within the week, he announced.

Jones Hardware Store does not expect to be moved into its new quarters, the 28th St. building, Elmer Jones said yesterday.

WHEN TAMPA TRIBUNE's state-roving reporter Sam Mase visited the Glades on several assignments last week, he thought of a picture of Mary Arthur Kirk, Pahokee, would nicely decorate his next "Tropic Tamer" column, so he photographed her sampling sugar cane. Then he decided to try some himself, having never tasted it before. His verdict? "Too sweet—I like pickles."

BIG GAME CAPTAINS NAMED

With the traditional Belle Glade-Pahokee Thanksgiving Eve gridiron battle next Wednesday night, the Blue Devils and Golden Rams yesterday announced their team captains and sponsors for the event.

Hal Rosenberg, Jimmy Hoyle, and George Mills have been elected team captains by their teammates, Pahokee Coach Webb

Pell said. This is the first year that the squad has elected its own captains. In previous years, the coaches made the choice.

Belle Glade captains will be Eddie Robinson and Paul Miller, according to Coach Calvin Peacock.

Sponsors for the Suncrest League—leading Blue Devils, chosen by the team, will be Billie Nellie Stokes, Marcie Jean Guthrie and Betty Harrison. The Golden Rams chose Lou Ann Austin and Arlene Kirchman.

Devils—St. Ann's. Tonight, Pahokee faces St. Ann's in a non-league game, and Belle Glade gets a needed rest after its hair-raising near defeat of tough Ft. Pierce last week.

Ft. Pierce kept its foot in the game to yet again defeat the Suncrest crowd by defeating the Rams 13-7 on the Rams' home field Friday.

Bobby Joe Thomas shot a pass to Waltzin' Walter Mosley in the first quarter for the first TD, and Glenn Garraway ran the extra point for Belle Glade.

Ft. Pierce's star Bill Childress, with Pat Richmond and the Childress too, tied the score in the second quarter. Despite valiant defensive work by the Rams, the Eagles collected the necessary TD in the third quarter, when Parker passed to Richmond on the fourth down.

The score remained 13-7 to Ft. Pierce in the last quarter, with the Rams desperately fighting to chop into enemy territory and throwing Ft. Pierce back the white.

'ST' Wrecklessness Needed This Week

Although Dec. 15 is officially proclaimed "S-D" (Safe Driving) Day for Florida and the nation, this week's gory record of Glades traffic deaths and injuries points up the need for year-around safe driving, Trooper J. L. Hicks, head of the Glades FHP office at Pahokee, said yesterday.

In view of two deaths, one serious injury and 13 persons involved in accidents in the Glades since Saturday, Trooper Hicks feels that "S-D" Day is none too soon.

On Saturday about 3:15 p.m., Carlos Mims, 28, Canal Point, was killed when his car was sideswiped by another car driven by Herbert R. Moya, 44, of Tampa. The accident occurred on US 441 three miles north of Canal Point, according to FHP Trooper Charles McWilliams, who said that Moya is being held under $500 bond charged with driving while intoxicated and causing an accident.

Robert Bardin acted as coroner and Deputy Sheriff Frank O'Connell represented the sheriff's department.

On Sunday Clifford Drayton was charged with reckless driving and causing an accident and is out on bond. Drayton turned over in his green Mercury convertible on State Market Rd., according to Pahokee Police Chief Leon Guthrie.

On Monday night about 8:30 p.m., Sheldon, of Oxford, Mich., was killed when the Chevrolet Corvete in which she was a passenger with Joseph Anderson, 20, of Hamlet, Mich., went out of control at 50 h.p. and was jammed into by a truck driven by Jesse Coward, Miami, according to FHP reports. The accident, which occurred on Route 27 south of Wauson, was apparently due to slick tires on the Corvete.

No charges were preferred against either driver.

On Monday about 9 p.m., Haywood Richbow, Armstrong Quarters, Pahokee, found himself and four passengers in a wrecked 1951 Chevrolet on the way to investigate an accident at Okeechobee Camp, according to police files.

Three cars were involved in the Okeechobee Camp accident. The car was charged with reckless driving and was an accident and fined $50 by Judge J. R. Cherry. Byrd's car struck a tree, and the car was overturned into the water.

On Tuesday a labor bus and a pick-up truck were involved in an accident on County Rd. between the Glades and Canal Point Rd. J. C. Rollins was driving a Vandegriff-Williams labor bus and hit a '48 Ford pick-up belonging to Carmen Salvatore, sr., driven by Edward Gamble, according to Police Chief Guthrie.

No charges were preferred against either driver, Chief Guthrie said, due to the fact that the bus had been investigated prior to arrival and investigators and investigation was made on basis of eye witnesses' testimony.

ED. NOTE: WHEN OBSERVER Reader Valerie Vondermull of New York City, wrote of plans for a world-circling vacation, we asked her to record some of her impressions and drop them in whatever mailbox she found. What the mail brought this week follows.

BY VALERIE VONDERMULL, Karachi

One day while we were in Risalpur we drove up to the Khylar Pass and up to the frontier of Afghanistan.

Once past the point where our passes were checked we entered tribal territory governed in a sense by a political agency but in effect by tribal law. Since the pass is strategic (and has been since the time of Alexander the Great) there are Army posts and forts all along the route and in case of serious trouble the Army would keep order.

Perhaps other mountain passes in the world are more impressive, but the Khylar more than makes up for this lack in atmosphere. Every foot of the highway and the railroad which twists and turns up the valley is dominated by a fort or outpost. The largest of these troops are stationed look like sand forts made on some beach but on closer look are substantial. It is the custom for regiments stationed at each point to leave a plaque on the rock by the roadside ornamented with the regimental shield. The dates went back to 1870 and the units included all the famous Indian regiments.

Protected Villages
The native villages were also walled and included corner towers for further protection. In certain narrow sections of the road concrete tank traps were scattered across with pieces piled by the roadside to be dragged into place if necessary. The guidebooks imply that all these defensive measures are a relic of British control, but although air power could help over the pass it is still the land route to Central Asia and therefore important. Road travel at night is not encouraged, not for military security reasons but because of the unreliability of the tribes.

At the actual border a smart Pakistan sentry in a red and white turban kept a good three feet from the barbed wire line—apparently the Afghans do not take kindly to tourists putting one foot into their country.

We then back-tracked to a town called Landi Kotal, where we expected to lunch quietly with the doctor serving the tribes but he had arranged for us to eat with the officers of the Khylar Rifles.

Four officers, including the Commandant, a colonel, were on hand to do the honors. First we sat around the lounge sipping lime juice and eating delicious kebabs (chunks of roast lamb). Things were a bit stiff at first and everyone was somewhat relieved when lunch was announced. It was served buffet style and included roast chicken, a rice dish cooked with spices, meat, onions and fried orange rind, curried beef, another lamb dish, the usual cucumber and tomato salad and an excellent steamed pudding for dessert. This was our first encounter with a straight Pakistani meal—no knives, just a fork and a spoon.

We had some difficult moments trying to manage the chicken while balancing a plate at the same time, but we soon discovered that you are expected to eat some things with your fingers, so all went well.

After lunch we visited the village itself and in particular the bazaar built around a large square. Nothing could have been further from the elegance of the officers' mess. Squalid adobe houses, flies, dirt, everywhere. We wandered around for a bit rather self-consciously since

EMMISSARY TO FLORIDA

When the TB Christmas Seal campaign opens in Orlando next week, the ambassador from Denmark, Henrik Kauffmann, will be on hand to launch the drive. Going to Orlando with him will be Congressman Syd Herlong. Syd points out that Kauffmann is the logical man to open the drive since the idea for TB Christmas Seals was originated in Denmark 50 years ago. "The Ambassador says that TB has been all but wiped out in Denmark, and he predicts that if we continue our good work in this country we can look forward to the same results," the Congressman said.

SMATHERS TO RIO — The news is not yet out, but Senator George Smathers is going to the inter-American conference at Rio de Janeiro as an official bi-partisan observer from the United States Senate. Smathers' appointment was made at the request of the working echelon in the State Department who have been considerably encouraged in their efforts to work out better relations with our "old enemies" by Smathers' persistent work in the Senate. The Democratic leadership nominated Smathers but in making the appointment the President of the Senate (VP Nixon) observed that "no man in the Senate will contribute toward creating good will between the United States and our friends to the South." The conference opens November 22 and is expected to last two weeks. After the first week, Smathers will leave the conference, complete a study tour of inter-American air ports in South America and the Caribbean.

VETERANS' DAY—Congressman Billy Matthews was chosen this year to lay the wreath at the tomb of the unknown soldier for the State of Florida. Representing Acting Gov. Charley Johns, who could not be present, Matthews participated in the annual ceremony at Arlington Cemetery as the State's official representative.

All the kids and half the adults followed us about. We stopped to buy some Russian cigarettes from a small shop which had a large display of American cigarettes as well—a most unusual sight in Pakistan.

Everything we saw of the Pakistan army was impressive. Not just spit and polish, although there was plenty of that, but also a general feeling of efficiency and pride. They have had to build up a lot since Partition in 1947. There were only 10 Engineer officers then, today there are 600.

The military tradition is ancient and in several spots we have seen this underlined by the fact that troops are still sent to guard the walls of the 500 years and were sites of still earlier fortifications.

GO TO THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE ON THANKSGIVING

BY SCHATZI

My clipping file has turned up what can only be described as a commentary on humorless people.

According to this report, a dog-catcher over in Alabama got in considerable disrepute with several dog-owners because their pets barked after the dog-barking curfew hour at night. This efficient gentleman just strolled up and down the streets and shot the barking dogs.

Naturally, their owners were somewhat upset at this mass slaughter. The dog-catcher has grimly continued about his business. It appears to have left some effect on him, however.

Why, one of my bosses is the greatest barker I have ever met. It is said of her that once she spent an entire busload of people on a New York street, by barking at them from the car in which she was riding.

Checking the facts on this, I find that she is of the same school of thought as mine—that if a human being occasionally feels like barking, it is perfectly all right. After all, it was a human being who first coined the phrase "Words fail me."

I hope that when the judge gives the little boy who barked a suspended sentence, that the youngster will bark his thanks. Then he can go out on the streets and bark ecstatically "I'm free, I'm free." After that he can bark into a happy manhood, grow up the wrong tree, worse than his bite, or his shins.

Eureka, to say the least. It took less than 24 hours to solve last week's mystery of "what is gossypol?" Because Dot Seller, of Belle Glade, an erudite lady indeed, dug around in her agricultural yearbooks and came up with:

"GOSSYPOL (goss-ih-pole) — A bright-yellow pigment found in distinct structures, called pigment glands, in cottonseed. Gossypol exhibits such a variety of reactions that it is difficult to identify it with any known class of organic compounds have been fruitless. The name gossypol (um

It becomes clearer, therefore, that that warning about gossypol having an effect on pigs is valid. Might turn 'em yellow. And who wants saffron pork?

ROBBERATIONS

By BENJAMIN S. ROBERTS

OLD GRADS ON THE GRIDIRON

Lawrence Podell takes apart the reasons for the popularity of sports in which the spectator has more fun than the player in his "Olds Grade: Regression, Projection or What?" He says that in order to understand school sponsorship of spectator sports we must remember that American boys are encouraged to engage actively in team sports in which they learn to play by the rules of the game and, develop into well-adjusted adults — cooperating and living in accordance with the rules of society. With maturity, the adult's active participation is transferred to non-team sports, nevertheless his interest in baseball, basketball and football, as a spectator, is retained.

Podell, sociology professor at U. of Buffalo, insists that one of the reasons the old grad continues an interest in sports is that the passage at commencement from boy-athlete to man, executive is abrupt. He says, "The successful career and successful marriage are now the aims in life — to be taken with resort resolution."

The constant striving for success entails difficult strains on the individual. One way he can overcome these is by turning back the clock, at least for a time, to escape reality and relive a more secure period of his life. In talking a good game, in playing the expert tactician, in referring to the players as though they were his contemporaries the old-grad takes some comfort from his lost youth for his present need.

In projection, an individual distorts a situation he is observing, says Podell, in such a way as to make it similar to something in his own life. When a person identifies, on the other hand, he feels the emotions which he believes the participants in an observed situation must feel.

With the primary feature of the triumph of deception over might in football today, the T formation, the fleeting scaback, the high-in-the-air clean catch of the ambidextrous end, the swift choice and the execution of pass plays by the quarterback, the old-grad can outthink and outwit any rival he imagines during the time he is identified with the successful team charging up and down the grid, continues Podell.

Purposeful aggression is employed in football and baseball, says Podell, and shows the old grad a thing or two to satisfy his ego or justify his conduct. For example, righteous indignation is supposed to result when rules are broken. Modern corporate industry has its rules which are not to be broken but which might be tripped over lightly, evaded, or harmlessly disobeyed. By identifying himself with the coach on the bench who is side-stepping rules the old-grad feels his own ends justifying their means.

The business man needs the symbolic mode of justification projected before him on the gridiron. The compensatory outlets derived by the schedule-bound and habit-ridden executive are essential, according to Podell. Spectator sports are a school enterprise because the student is an alumnus and is but seeing himself for the moment by regression and projection, all are attempts to identify with a brighter and more care-free day, according to Podell.

BETTER BUSINESS OKAYS BOOK FIRM

The National Better Business Bureau has reported favorably on an encyclopedia publishing company, the representative of which was turned down for solicitation by both the Belle Glade and Pahokee Chambers of Commerce of Commerce in recent weeks.

Belle Glade C-C Secretary Edwina Young said that the national bureau said the company itself was an old and respected one, and that it will be notified in the Glades towns trying to sell the books apparently is misrepresenting the facts.

Both in Pahokee and Belle Glade, parents were solicited to have their children endorse the encyclopedia for advertising purposes in exchange for certain "gift" books. In both cities, the Chamber of Commerce found that a "royalty" fee amounted to about $50 on the "gifts." The man left Pahokee evidently when he discovered the police were checking on him, and left Belle Glade after City Clerk Anderson forced him to return a $6 "royalty fee" to a parent and nullify the contract she had signed. In both cities, the Chambers had notified authorities upon complaint of parents.

We bring you
THE 1955 BUICK
New thriller in Style - Power - Performance

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

A BRIGHT NEW FRESHNESS greets your eyes and tells you: Buick's done it again.

You see it in the bold distinction of that gleaming Wide-Screen Grille. You see it in the rakish sweep of the rear-end contours. You see it in the whole fore-and-aft newness of fleet-lined grace that marks Buick the beauty thrill of 1955.

New horsepower — up to 236

You learn more when you get the power story. Up to new peaks go the horsepower of every Buick V8 engine — a wallowing 188 hp in the low-price SPECIAL — a mighty 236 hp in the CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

And it's new, more responsive, far abler power you can literally feel as you go.

But even bigger Buick news for 1955 is something more than style and power. It's what the "variable pitch propeller" now has done for Dynaflow Drive.

Up goes performance — and gas mileage too

When you find it necessary to push the pedal to the floor board, you do more than call on the greatest high-compression V8 power in Buick history.

You do what a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway. You do in oil what he does in air — you cut down take-off time by using "variable pitch propellers."

In this case, the propeller blades are inside the Dynaflow unit. But they're engineered to swivel or change their "pitch" just like plane propellers — and with the same result: one pitch for getaway, another pitch for gas-saving fuel efficiency.

And what you get in the way of instantaneous safety-surge with absolute smoothness, you can only believe when you feel it.

This you have to try

Of course, we want you to come and see the trend-setting new Buicks — look into the betterments in gasoline mileage that add new thrills to these spectacular cars.

But this year, "seeing" is only the beginning. So — while you join the crowds viewing the new Buicks this weekend end, make a date to get behind the wheel as soon as you possibly can. We promise you the thrill of the year.

*Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Guests Descend To Speak

BELLE GLADE — A novel means of transportation was used by two guests of the Rotary Club of Belle Glade last Friday at the regular luncheon meeting at The Bend. Capt. Arthur McArthur, guest speaker, and Lt. Christie, both from Palm Beach Air Force Base, arrived by helicopter and were greeted by many wide-eyed Rotarians.

The helicopter is of the Air-Sea Rescue Group, with the contingent located at Canal Point for the Lake Okechobee area. A demonstration of the helicopter was given to the group and their questions answered by Lt. Christie, the pilot. Captain McArthur, who was introduced by Program Chairman Russell E. Tucker, talked on the rescue work that is being done at the Palm Beach base and the various courses offered. Some 130 courses are available to the 500 normal complement of students and 250 flying students, the speaker said.

Visiting Rotarians were Harry Olmstead, Mt. Vernon, Mo.; Otto Blech, Elsworth, Keen, O. B. McClure and Bill Plummer, from Pahokee; Randall Chase and Tom Jones, of Sanford, Fla.

TURKEY SHOOT EXTENDED INTO NIGHT, TOO

PAHOKEE — The American Legion Thanksgiving shoot this year will run "far into the night" with special lighting for the competing marksmen.

The turkey shoot will be held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week, from 3:30 to 9 p.m. at Legion Hall. David Uwin and Pete Loreti are in charge.

PAHOKEE — Among 100 ice plants to be honored for operating the first six months of 1954 without a disabling injury to any employee is City Products Corporation of Pahokee, the Florida Industrial Commission announced this week.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Saw Grandma Taylor parking her 1924 Franklin out front the other day. Next as a pin, radiator and hub caps gleaming—the whole car is as shiny as the day she bought it 30 years ago.

Then I stopped and looked again—for there, hanging on the spare tire was a sign: "This car NOT for sale."

Asked Grandma what was going "for" she says, "It's this case for old cars. Everybody wants to buy my Franklin. But it has served for years and it's not for sale at any price."

BG LIONS HEAR SOC. SEC. MAN

BELLE GLADE — J. E. Bove-man, field representative of the Social Security field office in West Palm Beach, was guest speaker at the local Lions Club luncheon on Wednesday. He explained the changes on the Social Security law which will go into effect Jan. 1, 1955.

All reports are not as yet in on the Lions barbecue held last Friday night but President Buddy Schoenfeld estimates about 500 people were served and about $100 was cleared.

The Lions Club is selling front license plates advertising Belle Glade at a cost of $1. The plate advertises Belle Glade as the "Winter Vegetable Capital" and they may be secured from members of the Lions Club. Francis Harris is chairman.

COURTHOUSE IN BG 'APPROPRIATE'

BELLE GLADE — In answer to the question whether Belle Glade was the appropriate site for the proposed Glades sub-courthouse, County Commissioner Lake Loyal said he thought it was.

Loyal, principal speaker at the Jaycees "Boss Night" at the County Club recently, said that it was high time the Glades realized that it was one big family. He stressed the importance to the area of working together instead of "working at cross purposes."

County Commissioner Paul Rardin introduced Loyal and cited the great amount of public welfare work connected with that commissioner's duties. Loyal discussed the County Home and welfare cases concerned with the very young and the very old in the county.

Stating that more money is spent in the Glades for road than is received in revenue from the area, Loyal said that 32% of all county road building funds are expended in this area where road costs are prohibitive due to the engineering requirements of the topography.

STANLEY ON DEAN'S LIST

ATLANTA—Millard P. Stanley, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Stanley, Pahokee, is among 280 students on the Dean's Fall Honor List at Georgia Institute of Technology, Executive Dean Phil B. Narmore announced this week. Stanley is a junior in electrical engineering.

Granny Drives But Won't "Shift"

From where I sit, it's strictly the young cars for me—but Grandma Taylor, and others, are certainly welcome to their "old faithfuls." It's simply a question of preference. Same with a choice of beverages. For instance, I like a temperate glass of beer with supper. You may prefer coffee. Fine! The important thing is that we respect each other's choice—and "ride along smoothly" together.

2 Bandsmen Are Picked For Concert

PAHOKEE—Bandmaster Robert O. Lampi has announced that Neeley Johnson, trombonist and Chuck Elliott, snare drum player, of Pahokee high school band have been chosen to participate in the senior high clinic concert band and activities pertaining to the event, Jan. 6-8 in Tampa.

There will be about 110 members chosen from school bands of the state, through means of a statewide pilot, to participate in the concert band, which will give its final concert on Saturday night, Jan. 8. Lampi will also attend the Florida Band Masters Association board of directors meeting on the 6th; and a statewide band directors' meeting on the 7th.

On Saturday, Feb. 12, the Pahokee band will participate in the Fort Myers Edison Pageant of Light parade, along with many bands from over the state.

The Pahokee band now numbers 58 members, the largest in its history and there will probably be five or six more students ready to enter the band before Christmas, Lampi said.

LYNN HUNTER TO HEAD LIFE OF CA. STAFF

PAHOKEE—Lynn Hunter has been promoted to staff manager of the Life Insurance Company of Georgia, according to C. A. Batchelor, district manager of the firm. He succeeds E. J. Sears of Clewiston, who has resigned to become a member of the sales department of Hendry County Motors in Clewiston.

Vance Denton, who has been working in Belle Glade for the insurance company, has been transferred to the Pahokee area, Batchelor said.

SEMINOLE INDIANS ROTARY TOPIC

PAHOKEE—Rotarians heard William D. Boehmer discuss the Seminole Indians and illustrate his talk with motion pictures at the regular meeting yesterday.

Introduced by Jack Spencer, Boehmer described the difference in language between the northern and southern Seminole tribes. Boehmer has spent 16 years with the Department of Interior Indian Service. He pointed out that inter-marriage between the two tribes has tended to bridge the language barrier. Pointing out that the Seminoles numbered only about 150 persons at the end of the Seminole Wars, he stated that the tribes have now increased to about 900.

Government activities have helped the Seminoles help themselves. The cattle program has been a major benefit and the $8,000 per year revenue from the craft guild has been another successful project, Boehmer said.
